- Market sharing
- Limiting production or sales
- Bid-rigging schemes

Not all agreements are automatically illegal; some may qualify for exemptions if they promote economic efficiency and consumer benefits.

Prohibition of Abuse of Dominant Position (Article 102 TFEU)

This principle addresses the conduct of companies with a dominant position in the market. Abuse can take various forms, such as:

- Imposing unfair prices or trading conditions
- Limiting production or innovation
- Tying or bundling products unfairly
- Discriminating against certain trading partners

The goal is to prevent dominant firms from exploiting their position to the detriment of competition and consumers.

Merger Control

The Role of the European Commission

The Commission investigates suspected infringements, conducts dawn raids, and can impose fines and remedies. It also reviews mergers to assess their impact on competition.

Investigative Procedures

- Complaints and tip-offs: The Commission and NCAs often start investigations based on complaints or information from whistleblowers.
- Preliminary inquiries: To determine if a formal investigation is warranted.
- Formal investigations: Which can include market tests, hearings, and requesting information from parties involved.

Penalties and Remedies

Violations of EU competition law can result in hefty fines?up to 10% of a company?s annual turnover?and orders to cease anti-competitive practices.

- The agreement promotes efficiency and consumer benefits (block exemption regulations).
- The conduct does not significantly impede competition.
- The company was unaware of the infringement, though ignorance generally does not exempt liability.

Appeals and Judicial Review

Decisions by the European Commission can be challenged before the European Courts, such as the General Court and the Court of Justice, ensuring judicial oversight.

Recent Developments and Challenges

EU competition law continues to evolve in response to changing market dynamics and technological innovations.

Digital Economy and Competition Law

The rise of digital platforms presents new challenges:

- Gatekeeper firms: Companies with significant market power controlling access to digital markets.
