Historical Development of Egyptian Temples

Early Dynastic and Old Kingdom Temples

The earliest Egyptian temples date back to the Early Dynastic Period (c. 3100?2686 BCE). These initial structures were primarily simple enclosures built with mudbrick and limestone, serving as focal points for local worship. The New Kingdom (c. 1550?1070 BCE) marked the zenith of temple construction, exemplified by grand structures like Karnak and Luxor temples. These temples integrated complex layouts, elaborate reliefs, and massive sculptures, reflecting the increasing importance of state religion and the divine status of the pharaoh.
